Saint Vincent de Paul,

Saint Vincent de Paul, was a French Catholic priest who dedicated himself to serving the poor. In 1622 Vincent was appointed a chaplain to the galleys. After working for some time in Paris among imprisoned galley slaves, he returned to be the superior of what is now known as the Congregation of the Mission, or the "Vincentians". These priests, with vows of poverty, chastity, obedience, and stability, devote themselves entirely to the people in smaller towns and villages. Vincent established seminaries, and founded the Congregation of the Mission and Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul. Saint Vincent de Paul has a charity named after him by Blessed Frédéric Ozanam. Vincent was well known for his compassion, humility, and generosity. Vincent was canonized in 1737.

Archangels Michael, Gabriel and Raphael

Early Christians considered St Michael to be a healer. This began to change in the early 4th century when a certain painting depicting the Archangel defeating a dragon became popular after one of Emperor Constantine's military victories, and that motif remains one of the most well-known images of St. Michael to this day. Michael was closely involved in some of the most crucial events in early history of the Hebrew people. It is believed that he announced to Sarah she would bear a son, stopped Abraham from sacrificing Isaac, and was the angel who wrestled and blessed Jacob. He most especially protects the soul at the hour of death, and rescues souls from Purgatory. Like Michael, Gabriel also has cameos in the Book of Daniel. He explains, interprets, and reveals the hidden meanings of Daniel's visions. Perhaps Gabriel's most famous appearance was at the Annunciation, but he also announced another very important New Testament birth. He was the angel who appeared to John the Baptist's father, Zacharias, and told him that his barren wife Elizabeth would bear a son. When Zacharias didn't believe him, Gabriel was not having it, and struck him mute until his son's birth. Raphael plays a pivotal role in the Old Testament Book of Tobit. Calling himself Azarias, Raphael guides the blind Tobit and his son Tobiah through the desert, fights off a demon, and restores Tobit's sight. He also delivers Tobiah's fiancée Sarah from a demon's curse. Many depictions of St. Raphael picture the angel holding Tobiah's hand as a dear friend, and for this reason he has a reputation as being the most approachable archangel. A widely used "Prayer to St Michael" was brought into official use by Pope Leo XIII in 1886 and was recommended by Pope John Paul II in 1994. The feast day of the archangels Michael, Gabriel and Raphael is September 29.
